

ABSTRACT

A system and method for integrating a plurality of short-range communication protocols, comprising a signaling protocol for enabling an enhanced host controller to share the use of an RF transceiver between a plurality of communication modules using a plurality of short-range communications protocols.